Lightning Strike Sessions

Lightning Strike Session #1: Shifting Roles of Library Liaisons

Description: The Reg Erhardt Library recently underwent a reorganization of our selection process for the print and electronic book collections which resulted in a reduction from 18 staff to 3 staff selecting items. This didn't just change our budget process, it also changed our vision of what is means to be a library liaison. As we near the end of our first fiscal year, learn if this change was successful and how it impacts all staff activities.

Jessica Norman, SAIT

Lightning Strike Session #2: Using and Experiencing the Academic Library: A Multi-Site Observational Study of Space and Place

This study examines how students are using academic library spaces and the role these spaces are playing in the campus community. Data was collected on five campuses (two community colleges, two undergraduate universities and one technical institute) via observational seating sweeps and questionnaires. The study found remarkably similar usage patterns across all library types. Academic pursuits remain the most common activities, despite perceptions of the modern library as a social space. The library as a place to study is shown to be a complex topic, with noise, need and personal preference influencing experience. The research provides libraries with evidence to demonstrate their support of student learning and engagement within their institution.

Lightning Strike Session #3: MacEwan Libqual 2015 project

The focal point of interest for the AAAL audience would be the innovative and unique "promotional partnerships" that the MacEwan Library has undertaken with our Office of Institutional Analysis and the Director of Marketing to advance the (phenomenal!!) completion rate of this year's survey. I would be pleased to share our successful outreach stratagem and take any questions from the audience about it as well.

Lightning Strike Session #4: Digital media project

In the wild West landscape of streaming and digital media, there are often products that don't come with a home of their own – i.e. the seller provides a digital file, the purchaser figures out a hosting solution. Our goal was to provide RDC students, faculty, and staff with seamless access via the library's discovery tools to non-hosted digital media, which include licensed, direct-purchase digital media, locally generated and locally converted digital media (i.e. VHS tapes). We were able to leverage our subscription to Artstor, giving us a secure, password-protected platform that links with our discovery layer and ILS – all at no additional cost!

AAAL Chair's Report

April 16, 2015

OVERVIEW

I hope you're all as encouraged as I am to see AAAL continue to evolve into an association that truly embodies its mission, values and goals. The addition of a keynote speaker (Nicole Charles, Spring 2015), discussion breakout groups, and the success of Lightning Strikes creates what we believe is a valuable professional development experience for all. The new PD committee and award helps enable participation in our meetings, and institutional membership has once again increased with the addition of Athabasca. Meeting attendance will also hit a record-high, AAAL members acting upon our values of innovation, diversity and sharing, breaking tradition by travelling to Red Deer. Working together has also lead to a stronger, more useful collection of Alberta post-secondary statistics. TAL, the HKN and COPPUL will all be joining our meeting for the first time, further transforming AAAL into an inclusive, useful forum for provincial collaboration. And of course, nobody would know about all these great things, and more, without our fantastic Communications Committee (who knew Karen Hildebrandt was such a Hedley fan?!). ☺

GOALS & OBJECTIVES

I'll leave this section to what will be a new, fresh AAAL Executive team. I wish Leigh, CJ, and the rest of the AAAL team well, and thank you all for your enthusiasm, participation, and open-arms.

AAAL SPRING 2015 & FALL 2016 MEETINGS

- Thanks to Kristine Plastow, Heather Adams, and Red Deer College for hosting. Chartwells provided catering, with all food and beverage costs paid through your AAAL institutional membership fees.
- If you have ideas for Keynote speakers, meeting themes, want to volunteer for a AAAL position or present a Lightning Strike presentation, please contact your AAAL.

Thank you AAAL!,
